

Welcome to KLICNET!!

Contributed by Dr. David Moore
Tuesday, 22 August 2006
Last Updated Thursday, 14 December 2006

Thank you for participating in the KLICNET community, and for providing your feedback, ideas and suggestions for improvements to this forum. WWW.KLICNET.ORG was created to support advancement of theory and practice in Knowledge management, organizational Learning, Intellectual Capital and related areas. WWW.KLICNET .ORG supports scholars and practitioners in the KLIC domain. KLICNET seeks to accomplish this mission through the following activities: Assemble a dynamic one-stop collection of links to scholars, practitioners, professional organizations and journals publishing research and other information focused on knowledge management, organizational learning, intellectual capital and related topics. Provide active forums through which scholars and practitioners communicate directly with the KLICNET community regarding conferences, symposiums, opportunities for collaboration, funding opportunities, requests to review research papers, requests for proposals, enquiries regarding KLIC professionals for hire, and more... Facilitate active dialogs among the KLICNET community through our web site message boards. Everyone engaged in research or practice in the KLIC domain belongs to KLIC. If you would like to suggest improvements to WWW.KLICNET.ORG, please contact us at administrator@klicnet.org. If you desire to add a link to the web site of a KLIC scholar, practitioner, professional organization or journal publishing topics of relevance to the KLIC community, please register your username and password (click on "register" in the "Login Form" area on the left of the KLICNET home page). Once your username and password have been registered you will receive an email containing a link, which you must select to activate your registration. Within 48 hours of registering the Klicnet Administrator will change your status so that you also may submit news items for posting on the front page of www.klicnet.org. A klicnet administrator will review each submission and may request edits prior to publishing the submission on the front page of www.klicnet.org. You may also participate in the various message boards available through www.klicnet.org. You will need to register yourself on the message board system in order to reply to posts. If you would like to be able to originate new topics for discussion please send email to administrator@klicnet.org. This email address is being protected from spam bots, you need Javascript enabled to view it requesting this priviledge and your user status will be updated. Welcome to the KLICNET community!